

Croatia fiber optic cable

AI Overview

Yes, Croatia has a fiber optic network. Hrvatski Telekom, the largest telecommunications company in Croatia, offers fiber optic connections and has a wide network of fiber optic cables. Fiber optic technology is used for fixed internet services, primarily in larger cities and densely populated areas. Ongoing projects aim to expand the fiber optic network across various counties, ensuring comprehensive coverage. The OIV network connects all corners of Croatia with fiber optic cables, enhancing service availability. This infrastructure facilitates high-speed data transmission between major cities.
