

Manufacturer of Horizontal Optical Cable Junction Boxes

AI Overview

Horizontal optical cable junction boxes, also known as in-line fiber optic splice closures, are available from OEM manufacturers like UnitekFiber and FiberCheap, offering high-strength, corrosion-resistant enclosures for fiber splicing and distribution.

Overview Horizontal optical cable junction boxes are rectangular enclosures designed for horizontal installation in fiber optic networks. They provide protection, organization, and space for splicing optical fibers in underground, buried, or direct burial applications. These boxes are widely used in communication networks, CATV, and optical cable systems.

Key Features

- Material: Made from imported reinforced plastic for high strength and corrosion resistance.
- Capacity: Can accommodate up to 96 fibers in a single box, depending on the model.
- Functions: Supports butt-joint, branching, optical cable splitting, and wiring for main and drop cables of varying diameters.
- Protection: Designed to withstand harsh environmental conditions, ensuring low loss and high-performance connections.
- Installation: Suitable for terminal rooms, outdoor layouts, and direct burial applications, with firm sealing and convenient construction.

OEM Manufacturers and Suppliers

- UnitekFiber: Offers a range of IP68-rated fiber optic splice closures with capacities from 48 to 1152 cores. Their horizontal fiber optic splice closures are designed for straight-through and branch connections and provide reliable protection for spliced fibers.
- FiberCheap: Provides horizontal fiber cable joint boxes with features for splitting, wiring, and protective fiber distribution. Their boxes are suitable for both indoor and outdoor installations and support up to 96 fibers.
- Alibaba Suppliers: A wide selection of OEM manufacturers and suppliers of optical cable junction boxes can be found on Alibaba, offering customizable solutions for different fiber network requirements.
